

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A packaged confectionery product is provided. The packaged confectionery product includes a confectionery product and a package material formed around the confectionery product. The package material, such as a laminate, includes one or more
5 scored regions allowing ready access of the confectionery product, such as single-handed access of the confectionery product wherein an underlayer of the packaging material including, for example, a metal layer, remains unscored to promote product integrity.